

MeetingMatrix[®] Space Rendering[™] is the answer.

Give your sales a power boost with MeetingMatrix Space Rendering

Introducing Space Rendering[™], powered by the MeetingMatrix 3D-VR[™] technology, the industry's first, and only, real time three-dimensional diagramming solution. The world of marketing can be challenging, filled with demanding questions and grueling decisions that must be made, but it ultimately comes down to one thing: how best can you market your property? The world is rapidly changing, adhering to the newest trends, and the way in which we market and sell our products and services must adapt accordingly.

Therefore you must always be thinking one step ahead, and able to find new ways to strengthen your marketing repertoire.

- How can your property gain the competitive edge in our growing economy?
- What are new and innovative ways to market your meeting space?
- What customer experience differentiates your property from the competition?

MeetingMatrix[®]
INTERNATIONAL

Rather than your customers just viewing an event, let them experience it for themselves. Generate a virtual walk through and let them explore each and every aspect of their setup. Stand at the podium and practice a speech. Make sure there is enough room to move on the dance floor. Verify that the screen can be viewed from every seat.

Improving communication and having a stress free planning process is the key to customer satisfaction. Give them what they need in order to achieve this: make changes to setups and instantly view them in 3D. Change the centerpiece from roses to candelabras. Cover the chairs with or without a bow. Play with different colored linens. Since every change is instantly visible users can rapidly design the event they desire. Email 3D scenes directly from the software eliminating any file compatibility issues. Reduce the need for costly on-site visits by bringing the meeting room to them.

Since Space Rendering is based on MeetingMatrix Certified Room Diagrams®, you can be assured that every setup will fit in the room on the day of the event.

MeetingMatrix is committed to providing you and your customers the products and services needed for flawless event planning.
